

G. O. P. TAKES WILSON POLICY TOWARD CHINA

New Regime Continues Financial Program Started by Democrats.

ALL HAVE EQUAL CHANCE

Consortium Agreement Protects China in Dealings With Other Nations.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1921)

Washington—Another policy of the Wilson administration has been swallowed in entirety by the Harding administration, namely support of the banking groups of France, Great Britain, the United States and Japan in their efforts to finance China.

Secretary Charles Evans Hughes has given to the public for the first time the complete record of the negotiations between the four powers. It shows among other things that the Wilson administration reversed itself in its last two years almost completely from the attitude assumed in the days when William Jennings Bryan was secretary of state, and when most everything connected with American banking interests was regarded as suspicious. It will be recalled that the original arrangement between the bankers of Great Britain, Germany, the United States, Russia and Japan fell through largely because the Washington government withdrew the support that had been extended American bankers during the Taft-Knox administration, the argument being that the financial plans interfered seriously with the "political and administrative independence of China."

War Changes Policy

The war, however, changed things completely. Germany was no longer a partner. Japan had obtained through her 21 demands upon China certain options requiring China to consult her before making any loans and, furthermore, the United States became the only power able to extend financial aid anywhere. The record of the negotiations is a large volume of notes, memoranda and diplomatic papers which constitutes a chapter in American diplomacy which probably will have a far-reaching effect on our policy in the Far East and will have an important bearing on the future of China itself.

Although the agreement scrupulously avoids political entanglements it is a fact that most of the political friction in the Far East in the past has arisen out of the competitive interests of the big powers in financial matters. The so-called consortium agreements whereby the four powers agreed to protect their interests eliminates the opportunity for special privileges and options and makes possible the development of China along lines that do not menace her territorial integrity or independence. Eventually Russia will be taken into the partnership and the application of Belgium for entry into the group has been approved.

Financier Gets Credit

It is a fascinating story—this accomplishment of an agreement among all the great powers for the financing of China. And to Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan and Co., goes the credit for the achievement. His finesse and diplomacy in handling the question for the American bankers, who with the department of state and his tact and skill at Tokyo in convincing the Japanese of the vital necessity of their joining in the scheme are admitted on all sides to have been largely instrumental in the successful outcome of what promised to be the usual diplomatic wrangle and futile negotiation.

Of course Mr. Lamont would have been unable to get very far without the active support of the United States government. Mr. Lamont won the confidence of President Wilson at once and thereafter President Wilson, under Secretaries Polk and Davis gave Mr. Lamont the support in critical moments that he needed in handling the questions at issue with the Japanese government.

Japs Withhold Consent

The Japanese were the last to give their consent. They wanted at first to exclude eastern Mongolia and Manchuria on the ground of "special interest" and they insisted for a time upon reservations which would give the Japanese freedom of action in certain parts of China, but the American government, through its ambassador Morris and Mr. Lamont at Tokyo, succeeded in convincing the Japanese that to take exceptions and give options would be contrary to the idea of the consortium and the Japanese finally assented. The cordial support given the United States government by the British foreign office in the entire negotiation was no small factor in the achievement of complete agreement.

The significance of the documents just made public by the department of state simultaneously with the foreign offices of Japan, Great Britain and France will not become apparent at once, but it is not mere surmise to think that the negotiation will have a stabilizing effect on far Eastern policies and perhaps remove one of the sources of friction on which the jingos have built their theories of "the next war in the Pacific."

Joseph Drasak, superintendent of the Oshkosh district of the Prudential Life Insurance company, left Saturday to attend the employees convention of the company in Atlantic City.

WORLD IS PRODUCING MORE; TRADING LESS

State Historical Society of Wisconsin
Madison, Wis.

The business barometer is low in every land, this information revealed. At the same time agricultural basic wealth is high everywhere and crop production and prospects fine, with the exception of Russia, sections of Central Europe and drought regions of Asia.

For that reason government officials who watch world business conditions are optimistic. When transportation and credits are corrected world business will swing into shape, they said. That will take time and trouble but will be done.

"It is the first time world over-production ever brought about world business depression," said Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce.

Both exports and imports of England and the United States show decreases, as do those of virtually every country in current reports, through the same surveys show additions to raw material production.

The surplus stocks are piling up until they can be moved to a transportation charge the traffic will bear and until manufacture is justified by credits that will make possible their purchase.

Efforts here to help the solution are along these lines:

- 1—Creation of European credits to be handled through private agencies; government assistance in promoting long time credits for cotton farmers, until Europe, by credit extension, can take American cotton.
- 2—Government action to relieve the railroad problem. The high freight rates have hampered both domestic and foreign business, although even at these rates, railroad earnings are diminishing.
- 3—Revision of world trade shipping routes and development of trade with the Far East.

This action may forestall an attempt by the finance committee to pass appropriation bills over the governor's veto. Members predicted Thursday enough votes could be secured in both houses to override the executive.

"We will reconsider this bill," one member of the finance committee said. Others explained Governor Blaine recommended a reduction of $15,000 annually in the appropriations to this department.

Slutless on Grid

The methods and practices of private detective agencies furnished excitement for members of the assembly state affairs committee Wednesday.

Two bills were considered, one backed by the private detective agencies and one by the Wisconsin Federation of Labor.

The bill of the agencies proposes amendments to the existing law of a minor nature. The organized labor measure restricts the activities of private detectives to a radical degree. The bill requires all operatives to register with county clerks giving name, agency to which they are attached and the work they are doing. Such registrations, the bill provides, would be matters of public record.

"You might as well order bells tied to the necks of all private detectives," protested representatives of the agencies.

Hear 4 Market Bills

The committee will not pass upon the two bills until later in the week, E. A. Matheson, chairman, announced.

The hearing before a legislative joint committee on four bills permitting municipalities to establish and operate public markets Wednesday brought out a wide divergence of opinion as to whether such markets would effect the cost of living. Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee and representatives of women's organizations advocated the bills. Representatives of the Wisconsin Wholesale Grocers' association opposed them saying public markets would put the little corner grocer out of business. The committee will take action later.

The assembly Thursday voted to hold in abeyance the Peltier bill repealing the compulsory vaccination law until the committee on public welfare can report out a bill regulating fees to be charged by physicians for vaccinating school children.

The bill will meet the objections raised by Assemblyman Herman Sachgen of Madison, who declared doctors "were grafting" in some instances.

Governor Blaine's veto of the conservation commission appropriation of $30,000 to retain game wardens will be made a special order of business for April 13, the assembly decided Thursday by a vote of 43 to 36. At this time, it is understood, an attempt will be made to carry the measure over the veto.

The assembly killed the budget appropriation bill awarding $100,000 annually to the dairy and food commission by a vote of 44 to 35.

AMATEUR AVIATORS HAVE NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH

Minneapolis, Minn.—A piece of cloth tied to a strut nearly caused the death of Walter S. Olsen and Montgomery Meade in a home-made triplane in Wednesday. It became entangled in a control pulley and the machine was helpless, 3,000 feet up. The men loosed their life belts and clung to the ship until it struck the ground. They were thrown clear, and both knocked unconscious. Neither was seriously hurt. Their machine, believed to be the first triplane flown in the northwest, was wrecked.

Judge Rather Pay Fine Now Than Be Jailed

By United Press Leased Wire.
Denver, Colo.—Judge Ben Lindsey may pay his $500 fine for contempt of court rather than go to jail, he intimated Thursday.

The judge, who was found guilty of contempt when he refused to divulge the confidence bestowed upon him by a boy, said Thursday:

"I have never said that I would not do whatever the law said I should do in the case. I did not say I would not pay the $500 fine, but said I would rather serve in jail than pay the fine."

The judge's final argument will be Saturday. He refused further comment.

The troubles of the judge grew out of the case of 16-year-old Neal Wright whose mother was acquitted of the murder of her husband, Frank Wright, five years ago.

After talking with the boy, the judge said he and the boy knew who killed the husband.

Refusal to give further information led to the charges.

Assembly Finance Committee Plans to Override Governor's Veto.

ARGUE MARKETING BILLS

Milwaukee Wants Markets But Grocers' Association Is Opposed.

By United Press Leased Wire.
Madison—Governor John J. Blaine's threatened veto of the industrial commission's budget appropriations aggregating $300,000 annually, caused the legislative joint finance committee to hastily withdraw the bill from the executive office Wednesday.

This action may forestall an attempt by the finance committee to pass appropriation bills over the governor's veto. Members predicted Thursday enough votes could be secured in both houses to override the executive.

Europe Is In Turmoil As Carl Returns To Austria

Three Nations Threaten War, if Former Emperor Returns to Throne.

ALLIES MAY TAKE ACTION

Hasty Conferences Were Called When News of New Coup Reaches Capitals.

Budapest—Three nations Thursday threatened to make war on Hungary if former Emperor Carl takes the throne.

They demanded his immediate expulsion from the country.

This threat and demand came from Roumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia.

Simultaneously with news of their ultimatum was reported that Emperor Carl was marching on Budapest with an army of 30,000 men. His had already passed Iasva.

Raab is sixty-seven miles northwest of Budapest. It is about half way between Budapest and Steinamanger, on the circuitous route the army would have to follow to avoid a mountain range.

The ultimatum was served on Hungary by the ministers of the three countries. Calling on Admiral Horthy Thursday on instructions from their governments, they laid before the regent a declaration that a return of the Hapsburgs could not be permitted.

The minister informed Horthy that "little entente" would act quickly in event the former ruler was permitted to take the throne.

Allies May Act

(By Ed. L. Keen)
London—"The Hapsburg peril" was reflected in all Europe Thursday. Throughout the continent there were hasty conferences on the attempt of former Emperor Carl to return to the Hungarian throne.

Military actions by outside nations were a possibility.

Carl's success, it was believed would be the signal for the wholesale release of noble exiles from Switzerland—perhaps even a return of a Hohenzollern to Germany which is now in turmoil.

King Constantine's successful appeal to his people was believed to have brought about Carl's spectacular effort to reinstate himself.

Evidence here was that Carl was keenly disappointed that his return to Hungary had not resulted in an instantaneous uprising by his people.

Even after private conference with monarchist leaders had shown that the time was not ripe for his return, he persisted.

Call Cabinet Meeting

An indication of the excitement created by Carl's adventure was the immediate action of Premier Giolitti of Italy in calling his cabinet together.

The session considered the Hungarian situation. Italy is bound by agreements with Czechoslovakia and others of the "little entente" and would be expected to add any military move deemed necessary to protect the former Hapsburg territories.

Other mid-European nations were expected to prepare Thursday to meet the changing situation in Austria-Hungary.

GOVERNOR EVADES TAX, PROBERS SAY

By United Press Leased Wire.
Oklahoma City—The fighting governor of Oklahoma Thursday jerked his white hat down on his head with effort to battle his enemies to the last ditch.

Governor J. B. Robertson, tall and lank, drawn in his southern fashion the following words concerning the impeachment recommendation made against him in the legislature last Wednesday:

"There is not a particle of truth in any of the insinuations made by the committee. The whole thing is a fabrication, concocted and perpetrated during the closing days of the legislature for political purposes."

A special house committee alleges Robertson should be impeached because, it is charged, he neglected his duties, was corrupt in office and evaded his income taxes.

The governor is a Democrat; the legislature is Republican by a wide margin.

UNION RAIL PACT DOES HINDER LOCAL AGREEMENTS

By United Press Leased Wire.
Chicago—"National union of man agreement against local union of employees" would be the result of abrogation of the national agreements between railroads and workers, according to Bert M. Jewell, president of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, Thursday.

Jewell told the United States labor board there are certain rules on working conditions purely local in application which should be negotiated between workers and the individual roads.

"The national agreements contemplate such negotiations," Jewell declared.

Rail executives have asked that national agreements be abrogated.

GERMAN ROYALISTS BACK CARL'S COUP

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)

New York—German monarchists are behind the plot to restore ex-King Carl to the Hungarian throne, as the forerunner of the restoration of the Hohenzollerns in Germany.

Hohenzollern loyalists in Berlin have been in touch with Hungarian monarchists for some time and there is every reason to believe they have made preparations to finance a coup d'etat by the Hapsburgs.

There has been a revival of monarchistic feeling in Europe ever since the Greek people voted to recall King Constantine to his throne. Germans especially have been planning to encourage this reactionary development from the time Constantine arrived in Athens.

The Hohenzollern chiefs, however, are compelled to move warily because they know any direct action by them would be successfully opposed by the allies. For this reason, they began several months ago to accomplish their purpose through indirect means. They began inspiring Hungarian monarchists and it is through German encouragement that Carl, who is temperamentally timid, was persuaded to break his parole, given to the Swiss government and leave Switzerland to claim his throne.

If Carl succeeds, the German monarchists will have scored an important victory which will lead directly to an attempt to overthrow the German republic and make a Hohenzollern ruler of Germany.

Militarism will then become rampant in Germany and another European war will be a certainty of the future.

BRITAIN FACING ANOTHER STRIKE

Triple Alliance Combination May Give Victory to Striking Miners.

By United Press Leased Wire.
London—Great Britain was threatened with an industrial upheaval Thursday through "triple alliance" strikes.

Miners were ordered to strike tonight when government control of the industry is ended and colliery owners attempt to enforce a lower wage scale.

An emergency meeting of transport workers was called for Tuesday to consider a sympathetic strike. Railway workers will meet Wednesday to discuss action on threatened wage cuts.

Strike action by railway workers and transport workers was expected to follow that of the miners. By co-operating in their demands they have been able to enforce them in the past.

Miners' leaders were fearful that without support of the other members of the triple alliance they could not win. The demand for coal is not acute. A transport and railway strike, however, would tie up all industry.

Marital Yoke Is Too Heavy After 35 Years

Traveling the single road of marital bliss for 35 years, the yoke became too heavy for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Siegel, New London. They appeared before Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Wednesday afternoon and the husband was granted the right of separation. His wife Winifred sued for the divorce, but Judge Spencer refused to grant her plea because of lack of sufficient evidence of cruel and inhuman treatment on his part. Separation was granted Mr. Siegel on basis of counter claims filed by him. Both alleged cruel and inhuman treatment.

Mr. Siegel was ordered to pay the plaintiff $2,600 in settlement and both were instructed to pay their own court costs. Three children who are grown up and married were witnesses in the case.

Former Emperor Stakes Everything on Effort to Restore Monarchy.

WINNING LARGE SUPPORT

Government Envoys Desert Regent and Join With Carl's Forces.

By United Press Leased Wire

Paris—Former Emperor Carl, staking everything in a desperate effort to regain his throne, Thursday seized control of western Hungary, according to a dispatch from Vienna.

The Vienna dispatch, crediting advice to the Volks Zeitung, said the army in west Hungary had come over to Carl and that the populace was rallying to his support.

Carl was reported to have sent an ultimatum to the Hungarian government at Budapest demanding the abdication of Admiral Horthy, the regent. Embassies sent by Horthy to negotiate with Carl joined the former emperor.

In West Hungary Carl assumed full power under declaration of a military dictatorship, the dispatch said.

Count Julius Andrássy, sent originally to Steinamanger as a government envoy, was reported to have joined the monarchist and to have undertaken negotiations as Carl's spokesman with other Horthy representatives headed by Minister Gratz.

May Yield to Carl

As a result of these negotiations the Volks Zeitung said there was a possibility that Admiral Horthy would yield control to the former emperor. In the Steinamanger region there was no doubt of the monarchist sentiment.

Peasants came miles to join in a great procession to honor the former ruler. Portraits of Carl and Empress Zita were carried alongside holy images. Church and monarchist banners were intermingled above the cheering crowds passing the residence of the Bishop Count Miklos where Carl is stationed. Count Andrássy appeared on a balcony, the report said, and suggested the exiled crowd on behalf of the former monarchist. Great cheers greeted his assertions that conditions were far better when the Hapsburgs were in power than they are now.

Opposes Bloodshed

Carl's military supporters were said to have offered their troops for an advance on Budapest. The former ruler declined the offer.

"I oppose bloodshed," he was reported to have told them.

"It must be avoided at any cost." The military forces in western Hungary are regarded as the most powerful in the nation. General Lehar was reported to have full control over them and his adherence to the former monarch insured him sufficient support to withstand any government action.

Opposed to Return

Vienna—Former Emperor Carl announced Thursday that he is resolved to mount the throne, according to a dispatch received Thursday from his headquarters at Steinamanger.

Premier Mayer of Austria, convoked parliament to meet Friday and declared that Austria was opposed to Carl's return.

He assured the allies that Austria will resist him.

Carl, according to the dispatch from Steinamanger, appointed Count Siegrayer governor of west Hungary and General Lehar commander of the royalist forces.

Carefully Plotted

The Hungarian parliament has been summoned to meet Friday. The parliament has sole power to determine whether the regency shall be retained or Carl returned.

His first act probably will be to consider the "little entente" notice that war will be declared if Carl takes the throne.

The former ruler's coup was carefully plotted, according to evidence uncovered by the police Thursday.

Officers discovered printed proclamations announcing "the king has returned." These were believed to have been printed some time ago.

Communication with Steinamanger was broken Thursday and Carl's movements were a mystery.

RUSS AGREEMENT MAY SAVE BRITISH CAPITAL

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Washington—England's trade treaty with Soviet Russia was not negotiated with the idea that it would immediately benefit British commerce.

"The opportunities for trade were secondary considerations," says a cabinet official here.

"England knows that Russia has no commodities to barter for British or American products. But England, to an extent far greater than this country, has financial, industrial and mining interests in Russia which she still has to save."

The treaty gives opportunity for the North Coast Limited and the condition of English.

Gustave Riss returned Thursday from a business trip of several days to Chicago.

J. J. Cohen has returned from a week's business trip to eastern points. M. Davis of Chicago, and J. H. Lighton on business Thursday.

350 DADS AND SONS GET TOGETHER AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Relation of Father to Son Is Explained in Splendid Addresses.

Kaukauna.—About 350 dads and sons assembled in the auditorium Wednesday evening to participate in the annual father and son celebration. A wonderful spirit of companionship between father and son was evident at the meeting. Talks were given by a number of men; music and singing formed part of the program, and motion pictures of the state Y. M. C. A. camps for boys were shown.

Without doubt the address given by Judge Henry Graas of Green Bay brought more than one dad to a realization of his duty toward his son, and undoubtedly more than one dad silently acknowledged that he was not doing the right thing and at the same time resolved to see that he became the right kind of father. Judge Graas's talk was a combination of conversation with father and son. He told how the father should treat his boy, how a difference of action in certain instances would cause a world of difference, how the son should feel toward his father, and then went on to tell the boys how to respect the flag, giving illustrations which showed conclusively how logical his statements were.

The first talk of the evening was by Joseph Gerend, the representative of the sons of the city. The talk was a credit to the boy as well as to the Kaukauna high school of which he is a product.

Feels at Home
"Once more the relentless wheel of time revolves," Gerend said. "Once more we have assembled at this, our annual father and sons banquet. We, as sons, are glad of the opportunity to gather here with our fathers. Here, at least, we can talk as man to man and not as employer to employee or as inferior to superior."

"There was a time a few years ago when I was enrolled in the Boy Scouts of America. Hard was our lot at that time. Here we were, a handful of boys struggling for the life of our organization and yet, few, very few, were the men in the city who knew of the existence of such an organization. We had not even so much as a room to meet until Mr. Schussman, who was our scoutmaster, and who took a keen interest in our work, allowed us the use of the main room of the high school. A very admirable situation, was it not, for a group of boys who were doing their utmost to develop themselves as well as other boys into clean, manly and worthy citizens of Kaukauna, citizens whom our city would look upon with pride and say 'They are Kaukauna boys.'"

"Besides that, when we used the auditorium for basketball and gymnastics in order to get the recreation necessary for our own welfare, we had to 'chip in' and turn money into the city treasury for rental. Handicapped at every step, we have struggled on, and now at last the Kaukauna Boy Scouts are coming into their own."

Must Be Thankful
"Still, we sons have much to be thankful for. We appreciate the attitude our dads are taking in the present problems. Your attitude may be likened to the scales of justice. On one side you have cost, cost of new buildings, taxes and responsibilities. On the other side is the obligation of the administration and its perplexing problem of providing the things necessary for the city and at the same time keeping down taxes of an already overburdened population. The problem is to keep the scales in balance."

R. M. Radsch, chairman of the citizens committee on the new high school spoke also. In his appeal to the voters he showed the folly in a city the size of Kaukauna of having more than one high school.

"I am not here to defend education," said Mr. Radsch. "Education needs no defense. The best of buildings, equipment, teachers and environment is none too good for the children of our country. Kaukauna is confronted with a serious proposition. For 20 years the city has not had a building which the students could call their own. Rooms in the north district schools have been rented as high school rooms."

Mr. Radsch appealed to the voters to take up the $200,000 bond issue for the new high school and vote for it next Tuesday.

Mayor C. E. Raught, chairman of the meeting, seconded the talk of Mr. Radsch. It was the first time that he took a definite stand on the high school question. He emphasized the need of the new school and in closing urged the sons to take their fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters who are old enough to vote, to the polls and show them where to put the cross.

"Boys are the greatest asset which a city can have," said Judge Henry Graas. "There is more value in them than the most fabulous riches."

The speaker told of the stand of this country toward the starving nations of Europe. He called attention to the fact that the word "America" meant life and hope to every nationality in the world. He told the boys of their duty toward the flag and how they should never be ashamed to show their respect for it in spite of the laughter and jeers of their comrades.

Mr. Graas appealed to the fathers to teach their sons honesty, courtesy, respect for women and old age and obedience to authority. He said the Kaukauna.—Approximately 500 farmers attended the first Kaukauna Farm Implement Co. red letter day program Tuesday. A sale has been conducted by the company since March 21, and the last three days were made especially attractive to the farmers. The sale closes Thursday evening.

M. J. McCullough, of the International Harvester Co. of America, was one of the principal speakers Monday morning. His subject was "Present Farm Conditions." Machines for every sort of farm work were demonstrated by experts from the factories. A big feature of the morning was a tractor school at which farmers were free to ask questions regarding tractors.

Amusement interspersed the exhibition every afternoon. There was music and vaudeville by Schermittler and Corcoran. Motion pictures of vital interest were shown. One film was entitled "Keeping the Boy on the Farm."

Numerous speeches were given on son must be taught that he should stand on no ones legs but his own.

Teach Golden Rule

"Teach your son that the golden rule of life is in the ten commandments. Let me say that in a home where there is a loving father and an indulgent mother, that that son will never disgrace the family. How many of you have ever taken your son and asked him if there was anything which he wanted to ask. Have you ever put your arm over his shoulder and invited him to talk things over with you? If you haven't you have a treat in store for you."

"Son, always remember that to achieve success you must build character. I do not mean reputation. Reputation is merely what your friends say about you, but your character is what God knows about you. Reputation gets you a job but your character keeps that job for you."

"The world is calling for honest men as it has never called before. We need honest merchants, whose goods are as advertised, and who charge for their goods according to cost. We need honest preachers who will preach alike to rich and poor, who will preach the gospel and not other things. We need honest judges who will not discriminate between the man with money and the pauper."

"Boys, do not give up discouraged if you are defeated in your aims. If you would be successful, stick to your aim, don't leave your work because another boy is getting more money or another job. Remember, you succeed by defeats. It is defeat that raises a man to the highest pinnacle of success."

My First Job

GEORGE T. RICHARD.
Manager Outagamie Loan and Title Co.
I earned my first real dollar in the forests of Marathon county in 1910 at the time of that forest fire. I was on my vacation and I got a job patrolling a section of the railroad track to watch for sparks from the locomotives. It was a dry season and the least spark would start a conflagration.

My territory included a water tank where the train always stopped to take on water. Further on was a railroad crossing where the train again had to slow down. I got into the habit of riding the train as far as the crossing, where the engine went so slow that I could step off. One Sunday—we worked on Sunday, too—the engineer thought he'd play a joke on me, so instead of slowing down he scooted past the crossing with as much speed as he could pick up after the stop at the watertank. It was a through freight. I couldn't very well ride to Oshkosh or further so I had to jump. The ground on both sides of the track was filled with burnt or brush stumps, something like corn stubbles. I landed in them and rolled over a few times. When I got up I was pretty well torn up and bleeding. I worked at the job for the sum-

MR. KRUGMEIER FOR JUDGE

Among the offices to be voted on at the election next Tuesday is that of circuit judge for the Tenth district. The candidates are the incumbent, Judge E. V. Werner, and Albert H. Krugmeier. The office being an elective one it is open to the aspiration of any qualified person and to the choice of the people. Among the reasons urged for the reelection of Judge Werner is that it is customary to give men who occupy this office at least two terms, and it follows as a logical assumption that the same argument might continue the incumbency indefinitely.

The candidacy of Mr. Krugmeier and his endorsement by the bar association of Outagamie County are not necessarily a reflection upon the competency or service of Judge Werner. They simply represent the prerogative of our political system which belongs to an individual and to the people. Mr. Krugmeier has quite as much right to aspire to the judgeship as the present holder has to seek reelection. It is the right of the bar association to indicate its preference and to endorse one or the other of the candidates. It is the right of the people to say which they shall have to preside over their circuit court. The end to be sought is to secure the best possible judge and not to please or satisfy a candidate.

Outagamie county represents fifty per cent of the judicial circuit in the importance and character of legal business, and approximately half in bar clientele. The bar association is a body to which the people ordinarily should and does look for guidance in the selection of judges. It represents expert judgment as to who is best fitted for this important office. The bar association of Outagamie county unanimously endorsed Mr. Krugmeier for judge contemporaneously with the announcement of his candidacy. It amounted to a call to Mr. Krugmeier to offer his services and stand for election. This he has done.

Men who practice the profession of law desire the best material they can secure for the bench. It is not only to their interest but to the interest of persons they represent in litigation that we should have such judges. In this, we take it, the bar association of Outagamie county applies no criticism to Judge Werner in seeking to secure the election of Mr. Krugmeier. It is merely the indication of a preference it has the right to exercise and which in fact is a duty. Mr. Krugmeier's fitness for judicial service is unquestioned. He has the proper temperament and he is a man of integrity and high purpose. So far as his ability is concerned he needs no recommendation. He is recognized as one of the leading attorneys of this portion of Wisconsin and he has a clean record in the practice of his profession.

Judge Werner will have his own quarrels in his own county and it is only fair and natural that Mr. Krugmeier should have his in Outagamie county. The bar association of Outagamie county enjoys exceptional standing and we cannot help but feel that its endorsement of Mr. Krugmeier is as unprejudiced and conscientious as it is possible to be where a fellow member is concerned. We believe it represents a true expression of opinion and for this reason we think it is our duty to concur with it and endorse the candidacy of Mr. Krugmeier. If the people of Outagamie county will look at the matter without personal or partisan influence and will analyze the situation in the light of serving the judicial interests of the county we believe they will reach a similar conclusion and will vote for Mr. Krugmeier for judge.

HOSPITALS FOR SOLDIERS

The discovery that there are 42,000 more beds in government hospitals for the use of disabled former service men is surprising. For two years these beds have somehow been hidden. The government knew nothing about them, for while it arranged for the care of many disabled veterans it was unable to admit a great many deserving cases to hospitals and it was forced to throw many veterans with mental disabilities into jails, almshouses and crowded state insane asylums. Even congress was impressed with the want of housing facilities for disabled veterans and set aside $18,000,000 a few weeks ago for new buildings and improvements to hospitals in order to provide for the proper discharge of the government's plain duty toward the men left as victims in the great struggle.

According to Washington reports, the American Legion legislative committee is not much impressed by the report that the government is now able to take care of the disabled. Inasmuch as the Legion caused a thorough survey of conditions to be made and listened to the appeals of thousands of disabled veterans to whom the government had refused help on the ground that it had no room for them, its failure to take much stock in Dr. Sawyer's bed census is not hard to understand. And the committee which is selecting sites upon which to erect hospitals with the money appropriated by congress is going ahead as if the 42,000 beds were still hidden from public view.

The President has decided to approve a special committee to make inquiry into the whole subject of the care of the disabled and to lay its report and suggestions before congress and the country. This will enable him to catch up with the other investigators, and perhaps to solve the mystery of the 42,000 beds. It leads to the hope that by next Armistice day, three years after the cessation of hostilities, the government will have settled upon a policy which should have been adopted as soon as it became manifest that some one was going to be hurt in the war.

Beginning with the head which is not larger than the head of a pin, the succeeding links or segments of oblong shape, yellowish, flattened, increase in size until they are perhaps half an inch wide and an inch long. As a rule the presence of a tapeworm causes no disturbance of health, in child or adult. Sometimes there may be vague abdominal pains, nausea, diarrhea and some of the characteristic segments in the intestinal discharges, or the tapeworm eggs by microscopic examination, would warrant a diagnosis of the presence of tapeworm. Treatment for the removal of tapeworm requires the administration of remedies which are too poisonous for any one other than the physician to undertake to give. Blindness has been caused by the ill advised use of such medicines.

Cattle ingest the segments or the eggs, when their food is contaminated directly or indirectly by human excreta containing segments or eggs. From the intestine of the cow the tapeworms hatch out into the eggs there permeate into the flesh of the animal, also into the liver, brain, and other organs, and come to rest there as "bladder worms." These are no larger than a raisin seed. The animal seems to show no ill effect.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Cod Liver Oil

I am taking cod liver oil to build me up and also to put on weight. Should I take it before or after meals? Is an emulsion preferable to the pure oil? Do you advise a combination of hypophosphites and iron with it? Is there any objection to taking a glass of water soon after the oil? Does this remedy act on the liver? (Miss H. M.)

ANSWER—It may help to put on flesh—and that is all I understand by your other expression, "building up." Oils tend to delay digestion in the stomach, and hence should be taken an hour or two after meals. I think pure cod liver oil is preferable to emulsions. Hypophosphites have no known medicinal effect on the human body. You had better not add iron to your dose, unless for some exceptional reason and by your physician's direction. No objection to drinking water soon after taking the oil. Cod liver oil is extracted from the livers of cod fish; it has no special effect on the liver. It is a fat, as nourishing as butter or lard; it contains vitamins and some iodine.

Mitral Insufficiency

Kindly explain the meaning of mitral insufficiency. (Ph.)

ANSWER—It is mitral insufficiency, which means that the mitral valve (the valve between the left auricle and left ventricle of the heart) fails to close completely when it should, so there is some backward leakage from ventricle to auricle with each heartbeat or ventricle contraction. This may be the result of a distortion of the valve by the scar of former endocarditis or heart lining inflammation which occurred as a complication and result of tonsillitis, arthritis or other infection. Or it may be from a stretching or dilation of the orifice which the valve normally covers. In a case of dilated heart from any cause, when the valve does not entirely close the orifice it is insufficient.

Dilation of the Heart

Can acute dilation of the heart of about two years' standing in an individual of thirty be cured? (J. M. A.)

ANSWER—Complete recovery is a reasonable expectation. But it would depend upon the cause of the dilation. If it occurred as a result of strain, as in an endurance race by an untrained or inadequately trained contestant or a young boy, the outlook would be less favorable, for there is often some permanent damage in such cases.

THE LUSTY TAPEWORM

Tapeworms run from fifteen to twenty feet long, and, in this country, they come from eating rare or insufficiently cooked beef that is "meaty" and fresh. The "measles" in such meat are the larval forms of the tapeworm if the meat is kept over three weeks in cold storage. Proper meat inspection does away with the danger, but in this country much of the meat marketed has never been inspected. The "measles" in the meat are very small and might easily escape the notice of one not expert in detecting the condition. In the intestine of man the larva develops into the adult tapeworm, and fixes itself at the head to the intestinal wall, by means of hooks, to draw sustenance therefrom. The tapeworm does not, as popularly supposed, dispute with the host for the greater share of the food in the host's digestive tract. Nor is emaciation at all characteristic of tapeworm infestation; most actual hosts of this parasite are too stout, being abnormally heavy eaters and often somewhat cannibalistic in their taste for raw or rare meat. An enormous appetite with an emaciated or skinny body suggests tapeworm only to the victim of folklore or quick doctor bait.

Beginning with the head which is not larger than the head of a pin, the succeeding links or segments of oblong shape, yellowish, flattened, increase in size until they are perhaps half an inch wide and an inch long.

The News In Pictures

By Frederic J. Haskin

Haskin

Washington, D. C.—Since and during the recent presidential campaign, that latest development of modern journalism, the telling of news by photograph, reached its highest point to date. The average reader or hardly realizes or appreciates the fact that his newspaper is enabling him to see the world and its great characters without budging from his chair. The personalities of the news, especially, are brought before him just as they live and work.

Ten years ago the public man or woman was comparatively safe from the cameraman. A posed studio picture showing the subject at his or her best was all the public expected or asked. The hero or villain of the moment was shown in the newspapers attired in his Sunday best, wearing the expression that usually accompanies such garments. A woman appeared in public print adorned as for a ball or some other formal social function. If she possessed jewels she was shown wearing them, and her expression generally was the complacent smirk that adorns the face of even the most modest of mortals when told to "look pleasant, please."

There was no question of letting the picture tell the story. From all the public could learn from the pictures shown them, their idols spent their entire time smiling stilly into the heart of a rose. A visiting princess and the latest murderess received the same treatment.

Today the formal, posed studio picture, though still used extensively, fails to satisfy the newspaper reading public. The readers demand to see their favorites as they work and play. They want to see them with their hair mussed, if they are the kind whose hair is apt to be mussed. They want them human.

If the particular hero is a baseball genius the public wants to see him in action or at home playing with his dogs and children. If he is a political hero they want to see him busy at the desk where he habitually transacts business or out on the golf links for a bit of exercise.

The Whole Official Family
Nor does the public curiosity stop at the hero himself. It is interested in his wife, his children, his house, his servants, his dogs, his horses and everything that concerns him. No member of his household is safe from the prying eyes of the little black and white camera that appeals satisfaction for the public demands.

It would be a hopeless task to attempt to enumerate the thousands of snapshots of the presidential candidates which were made in the last election. Candidates Cox and Harding were shown all over the country at play and at work. Their wives and families were known by sight to practically every man, woman or child in the country. A picture of Mrs. Harding pinning a rose in her distinguished husband's lapel was reproduced in almost every newspaper in the nation. The picture was one of a few dozen snapped of the successful candidate and his wife the morning of their return to Washington from the convention at Chicago. They were breakfasting when the army of cameramen descended upon them and left their coffee to cool to obey the behest of their visitors. Facing the camera gracefully has become an essential to political success.

A jolly picture of candidate Cox playing with his tiny daughter Anne probably won for her daddy more votes than many of his speeches. One of the Democratic candidate's chief assets for publicity was admitted by his youngster. This particular picture was, it might be added, not by a news photographer, but by the wife of the Ohio Governor's best friend, Mrs. Timothy Ansberry of

"GOOD DAY TO KNOW YOUR CLOTHIER"

April 1st hasn't fallen on Friday for years.

Nor have the chances to be "taken in" been as plentiful since the World's Fair. Thousands of multigraph letters being sent out daily by small clothing manufacturers urging clothiers to stock up with Spring suits—at prices as low as $12.50—you can guess the rest.

All during this temptation, we are sitting tight in the boat—keeping our oars in the locks of quality and urging our friends to do the same.

In a sentence: We are giving you today, April 1st, the assurance that you can't buy a poor garment here—nor can you pay too much for a good one.

Confessions Of A Bride

(Copyright 1920)
THE BOOK OF MARTHA
Of Many Loves, Each Attraction, to Martha, Neutralizes the Other.
"I say, Marto, how does a pretty woman like you get away with it? I mean how do you keep the men you meet from making love to you?"
Daddy Lorimer's sense of humor is often objectionable and his unstrained curiosity in the doings of his friends is equally so but the members of his family have learned not to interrupt when he speaks. I couldn't save Martha from his jovial impertinence. I could only hope she understood him well enough to take it in the right spirit.
I turned toward Martha quickly, turned in time to note the pretty pink in her cheek deepen to red and spread from brow to throat. Rushing is not always the confession of fault; sometimes it is only self-consciousness or deprecation of self. But Martha had never been given to blushing and therefore I wondered about impossibilities and was vastly relieved to hear her say:
"They do make love! They think they flatter me! But I'm perfectly safe because there are so many of them!" I couldn't tell whether Martha was sarcastic or telling the truth. "I simply can't get interested in any one man for each attraction just naturally neutralizes the other."
Daddy Lorimer's eyes widened—he seemed to look over Martha's head, into the park and into the past—and I imagined that he had caught some explanation of why his own transient romances had all, in the end, been so unsatisfactory.
"Too many loves neutralizes each other? And make a man feel like a liar and a fool? So that's your big idea, is it Martie? I guess you're safe enough, my girl! Now since we're on the subject, personal, you know, would you mind telling me just how two people manage this new scheme of getting married and working, both of you, for wages?"
"You refer to the practical adjustment of our affairs? Our finances?"
"Sure! Who pays the bills? Who runs the house? You or Ewart?"
"Ewart and I share everything theoretically. We lump our salaries. Ewart attends to the checking account, that saves me some bother, you see. We share the housework, yes, indeed, you ought to see my husband wipe the dishes! Then we share the play, and divide the profits of our business—we keep separate savings accounts. Why, we've been competing to see who will save the most money in three years! There are several other systems for married workers. Sometimes the husband pays the rent and all expenses, and the wife saves what she earns. I can't say that one way is better than the other."
"Huh-huh-huh! Happy to learn that some married women who work have got sense. Lots I've hired let their husbands support them and spend their wages on their clothes. No wonder their homes go to smash!"

Cruelty Is Complaint of More Than 1,000 Unsatisfied Married People.

(Special to Post-Crescent.) Madison, Wis.—Wisconsin divorces in 1920 reached the highest number in the state's history, with a total of 2,425, which is an increase of 560, or 23 per cent, over the year before. The rate of increase over the average of the preceding 12 years, when divorces averaged 1,556 yearly, was 55 per cent.

Figures compiled by the bureau of vital statistics are the basis for these comparisons. The divorce rates based upon number of marriages similarly show a considerable rise. In 1910 for every 100 marriages there were 6.4 divorces recorded. This rate increased year by year, with one or two exceptions, until in 1918 it reached the high mark of 13.5. In 1919 it fell to 8.8, and in 1920, estimating the as yet untabulated marriages for that year at 19,000, the ratio of divorce to marriages was about 12.7.

In 1920 the divorce was granted to the wife in 1,744 cases and to the husband in 681 cases, the ratio being nearly 3 to 1 in the wife's favor. Cruelty led among the causes of divorce, with a total of 1,079. Desertion was next with 701, and non-support was proven by 347 wives. Adultery was the charge in 105 successful actions, in 66 of which the decree was granted to the husband and in 39 to the wife. Drunkenness accounted for 42 divorces, three of which were granted to the husband and 39 to the wife. This is a decline from previous years, drunkenness actions back in 1915 totalling 139, and declining yearly thereafter, as follows: 139, 112, 120, 67, 43.

The following causes also were listed: Bigamy, 14; fraud, 24; insanity, 1; venereal disease, 2; imprisonment, 17; impotency, 5; voluntary separation, 38; others, 52. Two hundred seventy-

ELLIS ISLAND CRUEL TO HELPLESS ALIENS

(Special to Post-Crescent.) New York—Protest has been made to Secretary of State Hughes by Congressman Isaac Siegel against a new bill of the immigration service. "Immigrants are swindled by fake American agents abroad," said Siegel, "and bonehead methods at Ellis Island inflict further misery on the victims."

In one week 33 women and children were deported from Ellis Island because they had been swindled with fake passport visas.

"Adding insult to injury," says Siegel, "the immigration officials stripped these unfortunate women and children of their passports and sent them back absolutely helpless."

"My protest resulted in the Department of State sending cables to foreign consulates ordering them to give bona fide visas to these 33 victims—after they reach the other side."

TRACY OPPOSES 3 YEAR BOARD TERMS

Too Much Chance to Squander Public Money, Veteran Supervisor Says.

"The three year term for members of the county board is one of the worst laws on our statutes and I understand a bill is before the legislature to repeal it," said John Tracy who has been a member of Outagamie county board for 25 years.

"However extravagant he may be with public funds a member elected for a one year term cannot exhaust the county funds to any great extent," said Mr. Tracy, "but such is not the case if he is elected for three years. There are members on the county board during the last three years, whom if my memory serves me correctly, never voted on any public expenditure that came up for consideration."

It is three years ago that the new law went into effect and members of the county board have just completed their first term under it. During that time hundreds of thousands of dollars were expended on the highways of the county and for other purposes. Among the members who refused to become candidates for reelection were Douglas Hodgins of Hortonville chairman of the county board and John R. Diderich of Appleton chairman of Black Creek-McCormick of Seymour and Anderson of Greenville, will not be returned, having been defeated at the caucuses.

OFFERS SELF AS BRIDE FOR $1,000

This is Dorothy Miller, 16 of Tilton, N. J., who advertised that she would wed the man who would give her $1000 immediately for an operation which her mother requires, the marriage to take place when she becomes 18. She received dozens of replies and a telegram from Peter Herman, bachelorette boy, offering to give a benefit bout. He added: "Please remember that I have a wife and two babies." The publicity which the ad aroused will probably make the operation possible without Dorothy's promise to marry.

BETTER BUSINESS ERA APPROACHING

Chamber of Commerce Expert Sees Improved Business and Farm Outlook.

A general decline in prices is believed to be the only way out of the existing unnatural situation. It is a painful process but it is none the less essential. The sooner it is over, the sooner the country will arrive at an enduring basis.

This is the belief of Archer Wall Douglas, chairman of the committee of statistics and standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States whose views are expressed in a bulletin received by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. "Nothing is more significant and encouraging at this time," he says, "than the belief in many quarters that better conditions will prevail as the season advances. As a natural consequence of this growing cheerfulness there is actually more business being done today, both materially and mentally, as it entails the buying of sensible goods."

Farm labor will be plentiful at low wages, Mr. Archer believes. The acreage will be less and the cost of production lower. Thus the farmer's problems of the relation of his cost and selling prices seems likely to be solved by supply matching itself with demand.

United States needs the European markets for her surplus goods, Mr. Archer says. She is our "best bet" if she is ever to pay the huge debt she owes this country. We must take her goods cheaply in payment.

NAVIGATION IS TO OPEN APRIL 11

Shipping Will Resume at About the Same Time as in Other Years.

Navigation on the Fox and Wolf rivers opens officially Monday April 11, according to notice sent out by the United States Engineer office, Milwaukee. Shipping has been suspended for less than five months navigation closing November 25, 1920. It opens about the same time as last year, when the date was April 12. The winter of 1919-1920 was much more severe, with more ice in the lake, but the spring thaw was rapid and the lake opened quickly.

The dates vary little from other years. Navigation opened in 1919 on April 7, in 1920 on April 15, and in 1917 on April 18.

British oil interests have received concessions in newly discovered oil fields in northern Greece. The shortage of fuel oil and coal in some parts of Canada is hampering railroad operation.

Toothache Demons Working Overtime

Why Let 'Em Do It When Instant Relief Is at Hand

"E-Z Tooth Filler" seems magical in its quick certain relief of the pain. You wouldn't believe that torture could give place to comfort so quickly, but you have to believe it when you're shown. No matter how the pain bores and jumps and stabs and burns, a little of "E-Z Tooth Filler" in the cavity absolutely ends the toothache at once. It works so quickly that there is rarely any pain left by the time you get through putting "E-Z Tooth Filler" in the cavity. "E-Z Tooth Filler" must not be confused with toothache drops, gum or wax, which bring only temporary relief. The most remarkable feature about "E-Z" is that it forms a filling, lasting often for weeks or months. Saves pain, time and dentists' bills. "E-Z Tooth Filler" is for sale at your druggist's at 30c a bottle, or sent direct upon receipt of price by the Chas. A. Bertram Drug Co., 3471 Elston Ave., Chicago.

Cheap Cigar Returns To Favor When Wages Slump

Cigar dealers are among those whose business suffers when there is a period of depression and unemployment. This has been true of Appleton in the last two months when there has been a noticeable decrease in sales.

Men buy cigars according to their earning ability. It has been found that the man who earns $2.50 or $3 a day bought seven or ten cent cigars. When wages went higher there was an increase in the sale of better brands. Employment has become scarce and wages have been cut. Dealers say this has caused a return to the cheap cigar.

Fruit stores have noticed a decrease of almost one third in their cigar sales. A. Levin says. He believes this is because the men have little money for

PURE BRED SEED CORN IS GIVEN TO FARMERS

Better corn and a greater yield to the acre is made possible by the First National bank, which has purchased a limited quantity of Golden Glow Yellow Dent seed corn from Jacobson brothers, Green Bay.

Ten pound lots are furnished to farmers who will agree to plant the corn separately from the usual crop, and who will plant the entire 1921 crop the following year. Ten ear samples are to be taken to the bank next fall for exhibits.

The seed corn is picked from the 2 acre lot that won first prize in Wisconsin for the highest yield of 129 bushels of shelled corn to the acre. The seed is grown under weather conditions similar to Outagamie.

In a letter to Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the bank, Prof. R. A. Moore of the college of agriculture, Madison expressed admiration of the work here to banish scrub corn.

USE OF DIPNETS IS TO BE RESTRICTED

Conservation Commission Issues New Ruling Affecting Spring Fishermen.

New regulations issued by the Wisconsin Conservation commission concerning the use of dipnets will make fishermen cautious when they start their annual jaunts to lakes and streams this spring. Big Wolf River is included in the territory where the use of dipnets is to be regulated. All streams flowing into Lake Michigan and other rivers and creeks specified in the law will come under the ruling, it is announced.

The first regulation stipulates that dipnets shall not exceed 8 feet in diameter and netting with a minimum mesh of 3 inches must be used in their construction. They may be used only from sunrise to sunset.

Netts may be used only for a distance of 10 miles inland as the regulation applies to tributaries of Lake Michigan, and in the Fond du Lac River within 3 miles of its mouth. The law also applies to Silver Creek from the old Arcade dam to Green Lake county line in Fond du Lac county, and to Littleton lake, Ashland and Rice counties.

CUBS SURE TO BE AMONG LEADERS IN 1921 FLAG CHASE

Evers Has Strong Pitching Staff and Rest of Team Is Up to Average.

BY FORREST B. MYERS Chicago would hardly be fair to judge Evers to predict that the Cubs will win the pennant. It would not be unjust, however, to say that he has a club that will give a battle for the championship.

Followers of the Trojan are predicting that he will have a first division club easily. Their contention appears to be certain considering the three wonderful pitchers he has in Alexander, Vaughn and Tyler. This trio alone with a little help at the plate are capable of assuring the Bruins a berth in the first division.

Alexander is in better condition than he ever was. Tyler looks stronger than he has been in three years and Vaughn is ready to work regularly with them. If Alexander does not win more than 30 games he will be the most disappointed man in baseball.

Evers needs a fourth regular on the staff. He has hoped to make it "Speed" Martin or Abe Bailey, but neither has come up to expectations. Virgil Cheever is an excellent prospect but he is only 20 years old. He is a right hander with a good curve and fast ball and will make the place if he continues to improve. Jones, Fuhr and York are young southpaws who have a chance to travel with the club.

The Cubs will be strongly fortified behind the bat with Killefer, O'Farrell and Daby. O'Farrell is an improved backstop with the best arm in the league.

There will be one change in the infield, Oscar Grimes covering the initial sack formerly graced by Merkle and Barber. Evers had counted on Whelan making the grade. Grimes is not graceful but can play the bag and hit. Terry, Hollocher and Deal will occupy the other bags with Killefer and Hoke Warner as utility men.

The addition of George Malsb has added speed and ability to the outfield as well as bolstered up the batting strength of the team. Malsb is an aggressive and hustling player and seems a likely candidate for the cleanup position.

His presence in the outfield with Plack and Barber will give Evers a fast trio that can cover the ground, throw and bat.

The Cubs will not have to worry about the fielding strength of the club, their pitching looks to be in good hands and all they have to do is to win a first division team will be to win a little steady hitting.

Team Of Stars Won State Title For Appleton

HERE is the team which copped Wisconsin high school basketball championship by whipping Menomoneie in a thrilling game in the state tournament in Madison last week. The majority of the boys are seniors, indicating that Coach A. K. Vincent will have his trouble turning out another winner next year. Appleton lost only two games during the season now ending, falling before Fond du Lac and Menasha but later in the season it defeated both of those teams, defeating Fond du Lac on its own floor and also in the sectional tournament in Oshkosh. Appleton lost at Menasha by one point but won here by a one-sided score.

Much of the success of this squad is due to the splendid work of Phil Jacobson, who was honored with selection as the best forward in the state following the Madison tournament. Jacobson is a senior, 19 years old and is playing his fourth year on the team. He was captain of the 1919-20 squad and is regarded as one of the cleverest men ever playing on a high school team. He is an excellent dribbler and has a keen eye for the basket on long shots. Jacobson also was a good football player, filling the quarterback position.

Dunn Leads Squad Elmer Dunn, captain of this year's team, also is a senior but is playing his second year on the team. Dunn is an exceptional jumper and a splendid player on defense. He showed good judgment during the season and ran his team in an excellent manner. Dunn has been playing fullback on the football team.

Much of the credit for the championship is due to Nathan Bloomer, a high class guard whose wonderful work in the Oshkosh tournament made it possible to defeat Fond du Lac and earn a place in the state meet. In that battle Bloomer scored a basket in the last few seconds of play, tying the score and paved the way to victory in a five minute overtime tilt. In the Madison tournament this guard played the same kind of a game. He is not spectacular but is on the job every minute. Bloomer is a senior and 19 years old.

Roach is Fighter John Roach is a combination of forward and guard that is hard to beat and he earned a place on the all state team as a guard largely because of his wonderful floor game and his ability as a basket shooter. In combination with Jacobson, he was one of the stars of the tournament and played a big part in the Appleton victory. Roach is playing his first year of high school basketball and is a junior. He is a hard fighter and great things are expected of him next year. Dan Courtney, a senior, hasn't been in all the games but he was fighting all the time when he did get in. He is a good defensive player, knows how to recover the ball and has a good eye for the basket.

Lee Laughlin, substitute center, is only 16 years old and a sophomore. Great things are expected of him next year because of his ability as a jumper. He should be a worthy successor to Dunn.

The great eye for free throwing possessed by Harold Brice was responsible for the victory over Menomoneie in Madison. Brice made 10 out of Appleton's 14 points, scoring 6 via the free throw route. Bloomer was picked for a place as guard on the second all state team and deserved the honor for he is one of the best guards in the state. Bloomer's fame is not confined to basketball, however. Like John Roach, he has been better known as a star of the gridiron.

Robert Stedman, senior, came here from Sturgeon Bay at the beginning of the school year and played a good game as guard. He also played end on the football team. Victor Hagen, sophomore, is a rattling good guard and it is believed he will fill Bloomer's shoes in good style next season. Everett Johnson, 16, sophomore, also is a guard who is expected to shine a year from now. John Zussman is a mighty clever forward but a trifle too small to make the team this year. He is fast and shifty and should be a star next year if he can put on a little more weight.

Faces Harder Task While it is the boys who play the game the lion's share of the credit is due the coach, A. K. Vincent, for the team's splendid showing. Vincent never was known as a star basketball player while a student in Lawrence but he surprised the fans when he piloted the college team to a state championship in 1919, the first the team had won in six years. Last year he became a member of the high school faculty and put the team in the championship race but it was eliminated in the Oshkosh tournament.

Vincent's basketball teams have lost only 6 out of 52 games played in the last three years, a most remarkable record. Basketball has not taken up all of Vincent's time, however. He coached the football team into the running for the state title for two years, losing only two out of twenty games. Because many of the 1921 cage stars are seniors Vincent will have to construct a new squad when the basketball season opens next year.

When Rheumatism Hits You Hard! Sloan's Liniment should be kept handy for aches and pains. Without rubbing, for it penetrates, apply a bit today to the afflicted part. Note the gratifying, clean, prompt relief that follows. IMPSEY IS IN NO HURRY TO TRAIN

New York—Jack Dempsey will not start training for the big battle until the middle of May, according to Jack Kearns, his manager.

The champion will continue doing theatrical work with a little light training on the side until six weeks before he meets Carpentier.

"Dempsey won't need a lot of work as he's been keeping himself on edge ever since he whipped Willard," Kearns said here Thursday.

"We made a big mistake getting ready for that bout with Bill Brennan. Dempsey started too soon and the bout was postponed several times so that we were really getting ready for three months."

"We can't always tell but what this big fight might have to be postponed at the last minute requiring more training and we don't want to go in to the ring against the Frenchman staled."

DRUGGISTS DON'T WANT TO SELL BEER

Appleton Pharmacists Do Not Prefer to Take Bartender's Place.

Publicity given the idea of having drug stores sell beer is not meeting with favor among most Appleton druggists. They are opposed to the idea of taking up the functions of a barroom and being made the agent of license. These business has been conducted on a high moral plane, and they do not intend to lower this standard by dispensing beer over their counters.

David Evans, manager of the Union Pharmacy, says most Appleton druggists take the stand expressed by Western Pennsylvania druggists in a convention in Philadelphia last week. The majority is against the sale of beer on a physician's prescription. They had elected to be druggists and not brewers agents, and desired to continue as such.

Other larger druggist associations also have opposed the idea. At a convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists last year in St. Louis a resolution was passed insisting that the liquor trade should not be made a part of their business, and asking congress to protect them against it. A similar resolution was passed the previous year at a convention in Rochester.

Should beer be sold by druggists it would mean the addition of delivery wagons for this purpose. It has been suggested that the government open liquor stores of its own to dispense the goods if such a course is deemed necessary, and that no responsibility be placed on the pharmacist.

PREPARE FOR WORK ON PAVING ASYLUM ROAD

Greinke Bros., who were awarded the contract for paving the asylum road by the federal government, are getting their machinery and equipment on the ground with the intention of commencing operations within the next few days. The first thing to receive attention will be the bridge near the asylum after which the regular road work will proceed. The contractors have facilities for boarding and lodging their men and a tent for the horses. The contract calls for about two miles of pavement. The firm completed a similar contract for the government on the Dale-Medina road last year.

Gives Convention Report

Miss Mabel Burke, member of the vocational school faculty, gave a report of the annual convention of the National Association for Vocational Education held in February in Atlantic City, N. J., before a meeting of the vocational school teachers Wednesday morning. The meeting was held at 11 o'clock in the vocational school. Miss Burke also told of her experiences while visiting other vocational schools.

Local Girls Win

The Appleton Women's club basketball team defeated the East Side Green Bay high school girls team under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday evening, 16 to 10, in the last out of town game of the season. The game was clean and good from start to finish showing good team work.

Miss Edna Becker won first place in the first of a series of extempore oratorical contests held at the high school Tuesday evening. Her subject was "The Old Slavery and the New."

Ralph Mullenix and Geraldine Rammer were tied for second place. Mullenix spoke on "The World's Obligation to Rockefeller." Miss Rammer's subject was "Lesson in History." Fourth place was won by Stanley Lowe whose subject was "Free Text Books."

The contestants met at 7 o'clock to choose their topics. The contest began at 8 o'clock. Miss O'Neil, Leon C. High and B. W. Wells were the judges.

The second contest was to have been held Thursday, but it has been indefinitely postponed.

WIRELESS STUDENTS HEAR ABOUT BRUNSWICK STATION

He told of the results this station obtained in the wireless field. Code was practiced for about half an hour.

Robert Thompson and Dallas Jensen are to give talks at the meeting next week. Either Erickson is to describe model wireless sets and will prepare diagrams of receiving and sending sets. Speed tests also will be conducted on receiving messages. This work is to precede an examination of the members at a meeting the week following.

TWO AUTOS FIGURE IN POLICE ANNALS

One Machine Is Damaged and Other Is Taken by Joy Riders.

An unidentified driver ran his automobile into a car owned by Jack Wheeler, 806 Appleton-st., while the machine was parked at the curb near the armory Wednesday evening, bending the tender and breaking the right front wheel. Mr. Wheeler notified the police and a search is being made for the offender.

While Dr. W. J. Frawley was attending the American legion dance in the armory his automobile was appropriated by joy riders and was returned later in the evening. It was believed stolen and a search was made.

An Appleton man who heard of the incident said some arrangement ought to be made by managers of dances and other events to place all automobiles in charge of a person who would be responsible for them. He suggested having each machine tagged, and not permitting any one to be taken unless the person could identify himself as its owner by exhibiting the duplicate check.

JURY PROBING LIQUOR FLOOD IN FOX VALLEY

The grand jury now in session in Milwaukee is investigating the flood of liquor in Fox river and Lake shore cities, according to information received here. Police officers and others from Appleton, Sturgeon Bay, Manitowoc, Menasha and Oconto, were summoned as witnesses.

It is said a large number of witnesses are still to be examined before the jury adjourns Friday night. Milwaukee cases probably will be taken up next week. This investigation is part of a plan to drive the illicit liquor business out of the state.
